I joined the family estate in 2008, founding the company Vignobles Faytout to perpetuate the know-how built up by my family over five generations. The Château Puisseguin La Rigodrie's vines were my grandmother's. But the family tree doesn't end there: the parents of some of my employees worked with my grandparents. A true family business! The wines we craft together are expressive and authentic, just like our personality and our soils.

Château Puisseguin La Rigodrie

PUISSEGUIN SAINT EMILION

Village: Puisseguin

Total winegrowing area: 20 hectares

Terroir: Soils of clay-limestone - Sub-soils of limestone – 60-meter high – 30-year-old vines – North-south exposure on top of the slope and east-west on the side of the slope.

Winemaking and ageing: Mechanical harvest with integrated sorting at the end of September. The juice is cold-racked. Temperatures are kept at 25 Celsius degrees during alcoholic fermentation with cap-punching for gentle extraction. After fermentation, 3 days at 35 Celsius degrees. Maceration for three weeks and running off. Aged in cement vats with wood input.

Blend: 93% Merlot, 3% Cabernet Franc, 2% Cabernet Sauvignon, Petit Verdot

Tasting comments: The color is incredibly intense due to slow, well-controlled extraction. The rich nose is followed by an excellent palate : powerful, dense, and well-balanced with great sweetness. A a well-made wine from the vineyard to the bottle.

Food and wine pairings: Prime rib of beef
