

Château Pouyau De Boisset - Cuvée Réserve

Patricia GEAI BEUNARD

Which animal would you be?

A lion

Your favorite vineyard area?

The Blaye area

Your favorite thing about wine?

Character

The journey you would like to go on?

A trip to Scotland

I settled at Château Pouyau de Boisset in 2002 with my husband, proud to own this historic estate that has long been managed and run by women only. The estate Pouyau de Boisset belonged to the Maison Forte de Boisset, a fortified manor house built in the 15th century. The name "pouyau", or "podium" in latin, means the top, the high, referring to the mound on top of which the house stands.

My vineyard is certified with the organic-farming label since 2007 because I care to craft wines that respect biodiversity and true to my terroir. I am proud to share my winegrowing philosophy with my children and grandchildren: we already have breeding grounds, let's plant good seed!

Château Pouyau De Boisset - Cuvée Réserve BLAYE CÔTES DE BORDEAUX

Village: Berson

Total winegrowing area: 8 hectares

Terroir: Soil of clay-limestone upon oyster bed from tertiary era. Subsoil of limestone rock - 20-year-old vines - 39-meter-high – South and South-East sun exposure

Winemaking and ageing: Mechanical harvest. Average 3-week vinification. Running off and pressing of pomace before blending. Ageing in concrete vats.

Blend: 55% Merlot, 40% Cabernet Sauvignon, 5% Malbec

Tasting comments: Deep garnet in color. Nose of subtle notes of fresh fruit and red berries. Full-bodied tanginess with notes of licorice. A harmonious, generous wine.

Food and wine pairings: Game

